

Ensuring a Comprehensive Approach to Assessing Provider Performance and Quality

The Office for People With Developmental Disabilities (OPWDD) has set forth to redesign its survey protocols and institute a more comprehensive approach for assessing provider performance.

The purpose of this toolkit resource is to

- Provide an overview of OPWDD's initiative to streamline survey tools
- Identify the key quality domains that encompass OPWDD's quality framework
- Provide a summary of the standards to allow provider agencies the opportunity to examine their own operations against the quality framework

Incorporating Quality Standards in Survey Protocols and Review Practices

OPWDD believes that the process to redesign survey protocols will lead to clearer system wide expectations for agency quality practices and, ultimately, to improvements in quality of life outcomes for people.

It is envisioned that these practices will be measured consistently across various quality domains that are mostly connected to the quality of life and personal outcomes for people with developmental disabilities. Standards will emphasize practices that promote agency culture and processes that strive for delivery of high quality supports in person-centered ways. While this comprehensive redesign of survey protocols and practices will include value added components that drive systemic quality improvements, it will also continue to emphasize important health and safety factors.

Several protocols will be streamlined and condensed into three survey tools:

- Agency Review – The key focus is on ensuring that effective organizational level systems are in place (e.g., training, incident management, workforce competencies, person centered planning practices, etc.) including a QI Plan.
- Individual Review – The key focus is on how well the organization support individual needs, goals and outcomes using interviews of sample individuals, record review and observation
- Site Review – The key focus is on physical plant-related elements, fire safety, HCBS settings characteristics, medication administration, supports at site, etc.

Overview of Quality Domains

Six quality domains were developed, based on stakeholder workgroups, which encompass the following areas providers are responsible for ensuring:

- Person Centered Planning and Service Delivery - Every person's unique strengths, needs, goals, preferences and informed choices concerning his/her life dictate the effective planning and implementation of their services and supports
- Rights, Health and Protections - Every person's rights, health and welfare are safeguarded and monitored based on informed and expressed choices of the individual
- Natural Supports, Community Connection and Integration - Individuals are supported in establishing natural supports, meaningful relationships and community connections in the most integrated settings appropriate to their needs, based on their informed and expressed choices
- Workforce - The workforce is stable and competent
- Agency Mission, Operations, Leadership and Governance - The mission and operational structure promote the attainment of personal outcomes and the organization implements sound fiscal practices.
- Quality Improvement - The organization acts to improve its effectiveness in the support of individuals' quality of life.
